DECISION

CASE OF ALLMAN v. THE UNITED KINGDOM

(Application no. 14213/18)
introduced on 13 March 2018

The European Court of Human Rights, sitting on 31 May 2018 in a single-judge formation pursuant to Articles 24 § 2 and 27 of the Convention, has examined the application as submitted.

The Court finds that, insofar as the applicant complains of the domestic courts' assessment of the evidence and interpretation of the law and challenges the outcome of the proceedings, the application is of a "fourth-instance" nature. The applicant was able to make submissions before the courts which answered those submissions in decisions that do not appear arbitrary or manifestly unreasonable, and there is nothing to suggest that the proceedings were otherwise unfair. Accordingly, these complaints are manifestly ill-founded within the meaning of Article 35 § 3 (a) of the Convention.

The Court declares the application inadmissible.
